Description:

Nice example of Thomas Jefferys chart of the coastline from Salamanca de Bacalar to Brewer's Lagoon and the Moskito Coast, centered on the Gulf of Honduras and the Rio Balize.

Extends to the Port of Guatimala and La Trinidad on the Pacific Coast, showing numerous volcanoes in the region. The treatment of the Coastline is remarkably detailed, with shoals, islands, soundings and sailing directions. Many place names in both English & Spanish, especially in the regions along the Moskito Coast, where the British settlements are shown.

Numerous sailing ships are used to illustrate the navigable routes through the islands and channels of the coast.

From a late edition of Jefferys' American Atlas.
