Description:

Celebrating 300 Years -- 1636 to 1936

Finely executed pictorial map of Harvard and Radcliffe, designed and drawn by Edwin J. Schruers to celebrate the Tercentenary of the founding of Harvard in 1636.

Drawn in the style of a birdseye view, the map looks across the Charles River from the south, extending north to Andover Hall and the Biological Laboratory.
