Description:

Original Pen and Ink Cartoons on Artist's Board

This is a great vintage cartoon showing repercussions from Thanksgiving festivities. This is a humorous work from the famed early 20th-century Californian cartoonist Frank Kettlewell and signed "Ket," with his signature small quacking bird in the image.

Many of the depictions are as relevant today as they were in the 1920s and 30s. A (slightly sexist) image shows a mother gasping at the sight of dishes. Santa instructs shoppers to get started on Christmas shopping, four decades before the term Black Friday became popular. A turkey leader delivers a stump speech announcing resistance. Finally, a digestive medicine goes for a refill.
