Description:

Centered on New Orleans

Fine original color example of this detailed map of the Lower Mississippi River, Mississippi Delta and contiguous coastal regions, which appeared in Jacques Nicolas Bellin's Petit Atlas Maritime.

The map shows the area around New Orleans, extending east to Mobile Bay and north to the d'Iberville River.

The map provides a fine early look at the region at the conclusion of the French & Indian War, a time when France's colonial interests in North America had been severely reduced by the Treaty of Utrecht.

One of the most detailed maps of the region from the mid-18th Century.
