Description:

Beautiful engraved and highly detailed four-sheet wall map of South America at the beginning of its Century of Revolution.

The map reflects the extent of European knowledge and explorations into the interior of the continent, which was advanced, but still far from complete. One of the best large format maps of South America from the period.

The 1818 state of the map can be readily differentiated from the 1816 by the inclusion of an engraved "stamp" to the lower-right of the title, which says "Revue & Augmentée par l'Auteur en Avril 1818".

The map is replete with political information, including the following labeled polities:

- Nouveau Royaume de Grenade
- Royaume de Quito
- Territoire des Missions ou Pays des Amazones
- Gouvernement de Caracas
- Guyane Anglaise
- Guyane Hollandaise
- Guyane Francaise
- Guyane Portugaise
- Brasil
