The Conclusion of the Second Manned Lunar Landing Mission - Apollo 12.

Original NASA press photograph published in 1969 at the Kennedy Space Center.

The verso includes the following official description of the photograph:

APOLLO 12 PACIFIC RECOVERY AREA -- One of the three Apollo 12 astronauts is hoisted aboard recovery helicopter in a Bill Pugh rescue net following splashdown in the Pacific Ocean at 3:58 p.m. EST November 24, 1969, approximately 350 nautical miles southeast [sic] of Samoa. The astronauts performed the Nations' second manned lunar landing mission. (The inflated bags atop the spacecraft returned it to an upright position after it impacted apex down.)
