Description:

Interesting map of ten regions controlled by the Roman Empire, published for Benjamin Wills Newton.

The caption on the map notes:

*The coloured part of this Map is intended to suggest the probable Territorial Arrangements
That Will Be Found in the Roman Empire when finally divided into TEN Federal Kingdoms.*

The map was likely a precursor to the publication of Newton's book, Prospects of the Ten Kingdoms of the Roman Empire considered: being the third series of aids to prophetic enquiry, published in 1873.

Benjamin Wills Newton (12 December 1807 – 26 June 1899) was an English evangelist, author of Christian books, and leader of a Plymouth church. His congregation and others around Plymouth became known as the Plymouth Brethren. Newton was a friend of John Nelson Darby, a well-known leader of the Plymouth Brethren, but the two men began to clash on matters of church doctrine and practice. This led to a 1848 split of the movement into the Open Brethren and Exclusive Brethren.

Rarity

The map is apparently quite rare on the market. We were unable to locate any examples at auction or in
