Description:

Decorative map of North & South America, published in London by Emanuel Bown.

Shows the Parts Undiscovered in the Northwestern part of North America, locating the supposed Straits of Anian, Cape Mendocino, New Albion, Drake's Port, Monterrey, and the Channel Islands, but not San Diego or San Francisco.

This edition of the map shows the trade winds and includes an extended coast of North America, noting the supposed Straits of Anian. This is one of two similar maps by Bowen, distinguishable by different cartouches, the trade winds and the extra northwest coastline on this edition of the map. The title of the other Bowen map is A New General Map of America.
