Description:

Fine full original hand-color example of this striking map of the area around Vienna, published by Mortier in Amsterdam.

The map shows the Danube River, with Vienna at its center, and extending to Perzendorf and Muckendorf in the northwest and Mannsdorf and Haslau-Maria Ellend in the southeast.

Vienna underwent a major siege shortly before this map was made, in 1683, in which the Ottoman Empire had been repulsed. The period after this witnessed the consistent reversal of Ottoman rule in southeastern Europe.

The color is truly exceptional.

Detailed Condition:

Fine original color. Small folded flap of paper at the bottom of the centerfold.
