Map of Humboldt County California

The Redwood timber industry was and still is a major economic driver in Humboldt County, and the present map provides a valuable mapping of the extent of the Redwoods in Humboldt County as of 1909.

Today Humboldt County is part of the Emerald Triangle and is known as a major source of other plant products.

J.N. Lentell's work including maps of Humboldt and Mendocino Counties, as well as a plan of the town of Eureka.

The map is quite rare. An 1881, 1898, and 1903 edition are listed in OCLC (one recorded example of each). We previously offered a 1901 edition of the map, which was considerably smaller than this map, previously owned by the ATS&F. Lentell seems to have revised the map in later years, which was republished by Britton & Rey.

We note that the Huntington Library holds a copy of this edition of the map, lacking the original printed covers and with the date given as 1909.

Detailed Condition:

Folding map. Minor fold toning and some scattered minor soiling. Overall VG or better.
