Description:

Interesting early map of the Northwest, hand colored by counties.

Idaho is now in its correct configuration, with only minor errors and no counties. Wyoming is shown in a region which will become part of Montana. Some counties appear east of the Cascade Mountains. Includes early towns, gold mines, early roads, emigrant routes, Indian Tribes, rivers, early settlements, etc.

A fine example of the map, one of the first to show Idaho properly configured and one of the earliest maps to name Montana.
