Description:

Scarce double hemisphere map of the World, featuring California as an Island, from Herman Moll's Maps Of The Several Parts Of Europe...

Moll provides a recently updated map, based upon the information which was most current at that date (although retaining the island of California).

The upper coast of America and Canada left undefined. A nice inset sphere of North Pole atop the two Hemispheres. Australia's coast is also left undefined, as are the coasts of Russia and Japan.
