Description:

Scarce and highly detailed of New England, New York and Lower Canada, published by Philippe Vandermaelen.

The map shows counties, towns, roads, rivers, lakes, mountains, islands, canals, etc.

Vandermaelen's work is without peer. He set out to produce the first uniform scale atlas of the world. In fact, each of his maps can be joined as globe gores, to form an immense globe. Cartographically, the atlas is a magnificent highly detailed work, pulling together the best information for indigenous sources.
