Ould Virginia A description of part of the adventures of Cap. Smith in Virginia.

slew 3 of them.

The name "Ould Virginia" was briefly used to describe the territory south of the Chesapeake Bay covered by Sir Walter Raleigh's 1584 patent of discovery. It is possible that John Smith originated the use of the name "Old Virginia" and that this map engraved by Vaughn popularized the name. Previously William Strachey had used South Virginia in 1612 to describe the area.

State

This is the 1819 reproduction of the map.

Rarity

The early issues of this map are very rare on the market, having only appeared in Smith's Generall History . . . AMPC lists only a single copy on the market in the past 30 years.
