Description:

Cloppenburg's map of Japan is a reduced version of Jodocus Hondius' map of Japan from the same period. This edition is referenced by Walter as being a later French edition, with the IA in IAPONIA erased, and evidence of the removal of these letters is present. However, this is a curiously folded copy, which leads us to conclude it was issued in a book, rather than an addition of the Mercator Minor. Korea is an island and Japan is configured after Hondius, at least 40-50 place names. A nice dark impression. The notation Tom. 2. Pag. 392 may give a good lead to its source.
