

Barry Lawrence Ruderman Antique Maps Inc.

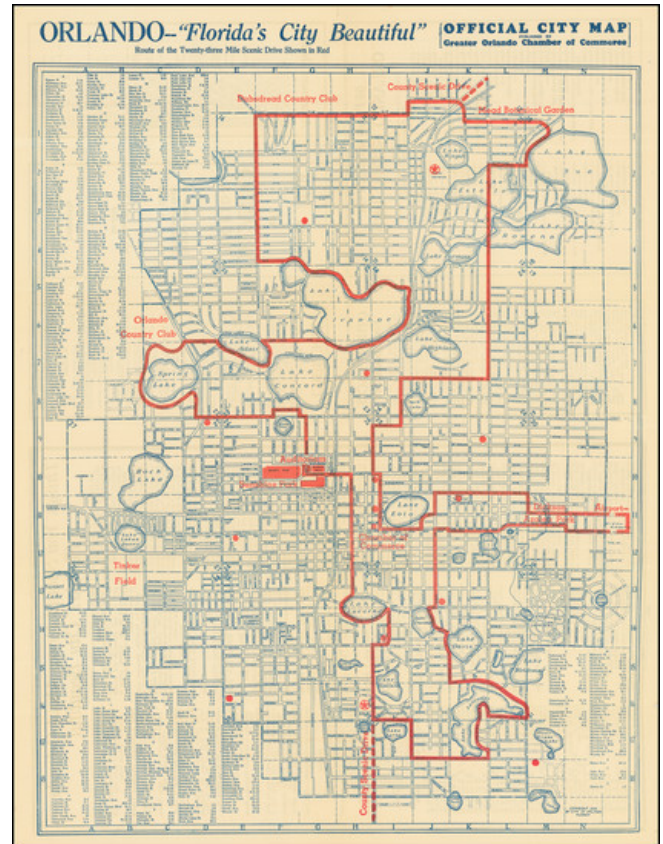

7407 La Jolla Boulevard
La Jolla, CA 92037

www.raremaps.com

(858) 551-8500
blr@raremaps.com

Orlando -- "Florida's City Beautiful" Official City Map . . .

Stock#: 77805
Map Maker: Orlando Chamber of Commerce
Date: 1936
Place: Orlando
Color: Color
Condition: VG+
Size: 16 x 21 inches
Price: SOLD

Description:

Scarce early map of Orlando, published by the Chamber of Commerce in 1936.

The present map shows the extent of Orlando's growth during the boom times of the late 1920s, prior to the Great Depression.

This variant of the map includes red lettering and lines which denote places of interest. The bold lines appear to be extensions of the county scenic drives.

Orlando in the 1920s & 1930s

Orlando became a popular resort during the years between the Spanish-American War and World War I. In the 1920s, Orlando experienced extensive housing development during the Florida Land Boom, causing land prices to soar. During this period, several neighborhoods in downtown were constructed. The boom

Barry Lawrence Ruderman
Antique Maps Inc.

7407 La Jolla Boulevard
La Jolla, CA 92037

www.raremaps.com

(858) 551-8500
blr@raremaps.com

---

Orlando -- "Florida's City Beautiful" Official City Map . . .

ended when several hurricanes hit Florida in the late 1920s, along with the Great Depression.

The town would not see significant growth again until the World War II years, when the Orlando Army Air Base and Pinecastle Army Airfield began to grow during the war years.

Detailed Condition:

Folding map. Printed on both sides.