Description:

Attractive vintage pictorial map of the Pacific Northwest. The map itself shows the greenery and topography of the region, with detail provided on towns, cities, and points of interest.

Surrounding the map are numerous depictions of the activities to do in the area. A phrase, repeated twice, suggests that the mountaineering in the region is equivalent to that of 30 Switzerland's. Similar superlative phrases accompany the further images on the verso.

The map provides little evidence to dating, though the style, language, and depictions of cars suggest a 1920s or 1930s publication.
