Description:

Nice example of Mercator's map of Greece from his edition of Ptolemy's Geographia, first published in 1578 and republished in Cologne in the 1580s.

This highly decorative map includes a sea monster, cartouche and a detailed treatment of the region. Many towns and islands are named, topography is shown, and rivers are indicated. Olympus Mons can be found on the northwest coast of Greece, and parts of the Balkans and Anatolia are visible.

This example of the map is from a later edition of Mercator's atlas and includes a cartouche updated to reflect late 16th-century sensibilities.

Detailed Condition:

Minor ink staining.
