Description:

Attractive antique map of northwest South America, focusing on the Guiana region which was then controlled by France and Holland.

Detail is extensive, showing towns and cities along the coast, along with a substantial amount of inland information. Notes refer to heavily forested mountainous regions of which little is known and the dating system used is the revolutionary method.

Poirson's maps are relatively uncommon, and this is the first time we have handled the present example.

Detailed Condition:

Original hand-color in outline.
