Double-page engraved map of the Azores, published by Johannes van Keulen in Amsterdam and engraved by van Loon. This attractive maritime chart includes ample detail, naming numerous features on each of the islands.

This map includes numerous decorative elements, including a title cartouche and ships sailing at sea. Capes and other features are shown around the islands, though little inland detail is indicated. In all, a fine map of this Atlantic archipelago.
