Description:

Early state of Samuel Augustus Mitchell Jr.'s map of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and the western portion of Montana and Wyoming.

Mitchell's map of the Northwest offers a fascinating look at this early transitional territorial configurations of the Pacific Northwest. Washington Territory wraps itself around the newly established State of Oregon, established in 1859. Only a handful of counties east of the Cascades.

Shows early routes of exploration, towns, forts, rivers, lakes, mountains, mines, Indian lands, early counties and a host of other details. One of the most interesting regional maps of the period, in a configuration which would exist for only 2 years.

SA Mitchell Jr. acquired his father's former business from DeSilver, in 1860 and relaunched a very successful atlas publishing business which survived another 20+ years, before licensing and selling off much of his inventory and rights.
