Description:

Decorative map of Portugal, delimited by provinces. This map was published in London by Emanuel Bowen in the mid-18th century for his A Complete System of Geography.

The map is detailed and shows, towns, roads, rivers, islands, lakes, mountains, and more. A decorative cartouche and compass rose are included.

Bowen cites two sources for this map, the Seat of War in the Ocean & Mediterranean Sea, as well as draughts produced by Massalian pilots. The former map appears to be self-referential, as Bowen produced a series of similarly titled works, although we have not been able to locate this one.
