Description:

Nice example of Nicolas De Fer's map of the southern part of South America, published in Paris in 1720.

The map covers Patagonia, Chile, Uruguay, southern Brazil and parts of Paraguay.

The striking large format map is the result of some of the most up-to-date cartographic information coming back to Europe from the Jesuit Missionaries who were then actively working to convert the indigenous peoples of South America to Christianity.

The map includes a significant amount of detail in the interior, along with a number of annotations addressing the discoveries of earlier explorers, including Magellan (1520), Le Maire (1616), Anthony de la Roche (1675), Brower (1643) and many others.

A nice example of this scarce map.
