Description:

Showing The Choctaw Nation and Indian Boundary Line

Striking example of Fielding Lucas' finely executed map of Louisiana and Mississippi Territory.

The map shows Louisiana before the formation of a number of its northern parishes, along with a fine early depiction of Territory Mississippi.

The map was issued separately and also appeared in the rare 1817 edition of Lucas' A New and Elegant General Atlas Containing Maps of Each of the United States, however this is the first edition of the atlas to include this map.

The map is a reduced version of Darby's 1816 map of Louisiana and Mississippi Territory.
