Description:

Rare large format map of Sicily, published by Nolin. The map is one of the most detailed maps of Sicily published in the early 18th Century, with much more topographical and geographical information than other maps of the period. Includes an elaborate key and annotations about Sicily and the Isles de Lipari. Ornate decorative cartouche with coat of arms and volcano. The map is quite rare, with no examples appearing in dealer catalogues in the past 20 years. Wide clean margins. A near flawless example.
