Description:

For Official Use Only. With Relevance to the Third Anglo-Afghan War.

Surveyor General of India map of the western borders of Pakistan initially issued in 1915 and published in 1925 in Calcutta.

This highly detailed map shows the course of the Kurram River near Manduri, near the Pakistan/Afghan border. Roads, peaks, settlements, and tribal areas are all shown.

The map was updated and published in the immediate aftermath of the Third Anglo-Afghan War, a strange offshoot of the First World War. Germans in Kabul had managed to convince Afghanistan that the loss of
