Description:

Original antique map from 1651 showing the south of France, from the Midi-Pyrenees region in the west to the Bouches du Rhone in the east. This map was produced in Paris by the great French cartographer Nicolas Sanson, who produced many of the most important French maps of the 17th century.

Mountains are shown pictorially, with the most prominent mountains in the southwest of the map in the Pyrenees region. Cities shown include Toulouse, Narbonne, Perpignan, Cahors, and Beziers. Numerous smaller cities are shown, with the importance of the settlement reflected in their depiction.

Detailed Condition:

Original hand-color in outline. Minor toning to edges. Cut down and mounted on 17th century paper for inclusion in a contemporary composite atlas.
