Description:

Attractive example of De Fer's desirable map of America showing California as an Island with coastal names. Early Great Lakes configuration. Mississippi too far to the west. Several rivers extend to the Rockies from the Mississippi. Oversized and interesting South America. Overall a very strong impression of this marvelous map. This issue is from de Fer's Introduction a la Geographie... Upper margin nicks neatline, as issued. Narrow top and right margins, occasionally to the neatline, else a near fine example. McLaughlin 135.
