Description:

Nice example of this early map of Michigan Territory and adjoining regions (including what would become Wisconsin), published by S.A. Bradford.

Michigan proper is shown with counties in the southern half, the north being Ottawa and Michilmackinac lands. To the west of Lake Michigan is a region oddly subdivided and called District of Huron and Attached to Michigan, which extends to the Mississippi. It notes the Crawford County (comprising most of Minnesota), Mississippi and New York Land Co. Tracts, Carver's Tracts, Chippewa County and Michilimackinac County (both reaching to the Mississippi River), Brown County (comprising most of Wisconsin), and a square identified as Green Bay.

East of Lake Huron, the London District, Home District, New Castle District and Midland District are shown.

Locates forts, towns, lakes, mountains, rivers, and names early counties. A marvelous transitional map.
