Description:

Fine example of Rand McNally's large double-page map of Ohio, focusing on the railroads and county structure of the state. The map shows the region in great detail, displaying the state as it was during the end of the 19th century.

To the left of the state, in red print, a list enumerates all of the railroads operating in the state at the time. Beyond this the populations of the Ohio's chief cities are listed.

In the lower right, the map includes an inset of Hamilton County, focusing on Cincinnati.

Detailed Condition:

Minor centerfold toning.
