Description:

Important Work on the Second Seminole War

With Three Folding Maps

Potter was an Army officer who was wounded at Camp Izard. His account of the Second Seminole War focuses on the campaigns of Colonel Joseph M. White, General Duncan L. Clinch, and Colonel James Gadsden.

The author includes an analysis of what he believed to be the causes of the war, brought on by Andrew Jackson in the interests of avaricious speculators.

Unsparingly critical of Jackson, Jesup and the Secretary of War - Howes.

A chapter devoted to the Seminole Indians includes listings of Seminole Chiefs (pages 9-10), with additional Seminole names listed on page 30.
