Description:

Fine large ecclesiastical map of Italy by Giacomo Rossi in Rome, based on the writings of Augustin Lubin.

The map is dedicated to Pope Innocent XII and illustrates the ecclesiastical regions of Italy in the 17th Century.

Ecclesiastical mapping refers to the process of creating maps that show the locations of religious institutions, such as churches, monasteries, and other religious buildings. They were often created by cartographers and geographers who were working for the Catholic Church or other religious institutions, and they were used to help plan the construction of new churches and other religious buildings, as well as to aid in the administration of the Catholic Church in Italy.

Augustin Lubin a French monk, was born in Paris January 29, 1624. He published many learned works on ancient and sacred geography; among others, Tabule Sacrae Geographicae (Paris, 1670):

— Martyrologium Romanum, cum tabulis geographis et notis historicis (Paris, 1660): — Tables geographiques pour les Vies des hommes illustres de Plutarque, dressees sur la traduction de l'Abbe Tallemant (Paris, 1671): — Clef du grand Pouille des Benefices de France, containing the names of the abbeys, of their founders, their situation, etc. (Paris, 1671); etc.
