Description:

Scarce view of the famed 16th Century Este family Villa in Rome, based upon a painting by German artist Eduard Hildebrandt (1818-68).

One of a suite of approximately 34 lovely chromolithographed plates of scenes made while on a journey around the world, mounted on the publisher's board.

Hildebrandt was already a finely regarded artist by 1838. He moved to Paris in 1842 to continue his work. Inspired by Humboldt, in 1864-1865, Hildebrandt traveled around the world, visiting various cities and creating watercolors along the way.
