Description:

1676 edition of John Speed's famous carte-a-figures map of France. The map was engraved by Dirck Gryp, and first published in London in 1626.

This remarkable carte-a-figures map of France showcases a collection of captivating vignettes that enrich its visual appeal and historical significance. The vignettes depict various cities, the king and queen, and people from different social classes and regions, offering a unique insight into the cultural diversity and geographic characteristics of France during that period.

The top row of vignettes illustrates the following cities:

- Angiers (Angers)
- Poitiers (Poitiers)
- Orleans
- Paris
- Roan (Rouen)
- Rochelle (La Rochelle)
- Bordeaux
- Calis (Calais)
