Description:

A specialized world chart prepared for the Apollo 4 mission. It was created in its 1st edition in July 1967 by the United States Air Force Aeronautical Chart and Information Center (ACIC) and lithographed in August 1967. This chart is the second sheet in a two-part series and focuses on the third revolution of the Apollo 4 mission. It provides crucial information and mapping details necessary for the successful planning and execution of the mission, assisting astronauts and mission control personnel in navigating and monitoring the spacecraft's trajectory throughout its journey.
