Description:

This captivating photograph, AS17-145-22285, taken between December 7 and 19, 1972, presents a stunning view of the Eratosthenes Crater as seen from the southward perspective aboard the Command and Service Module (CSM). Astronaut Ronald E. Evans expertly pilots the CSM, while the prominent Copernicus crater graces the horizon in the distance. Joining Evans on this historic mission are astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, the commander, and Harrison H. Schmitt, the lunar module pilot. The image encapsulates the mesmerizing lunar landscape explored during the Apollo 17 mission.
