Description:

A fine example of the 1745 edition of De L'Isle's influential map, engraved by H. van Loon, of the Turkish Empire and Arabian Peninsula.

This map, created by renowned French cartographer Guillaume de L'Isle and later updated by Phillipe Buache in 1745, provides valuable insight into the evolving understanding of the geography of the Turkish Empire, Arabian Peninsula, Mediterranean, Central Asia, and parts of Ukraine and Egypt. De L'Isle, a member of the French Academy of Sciences, based his work on the most recent memoirs and observations available to him, ensuring the map's accuracy for its time.

In the lower right-hand corner, the 1745 edition names Buache, De L'Isle's son-in-law and fellow geographer. It is worth noting that the title of the map still carries the date 1701, despite the updated imprint that clearly indicates its 1745 edition.
