The map is rich with Indian notes, roads, early Texas rail line information, including railroads in existence and those in progress, notes on the Rio Grande and its trade prospects as a navigable river and Grand Indian Crossing, census info, notes regarding wild horses and cattle, early Indian routes, forts and a host of other early details. Includes large inset of Galveston. Shows roads, with distances, and some fascinating details in Northern Texas and the Comanche Trail, and the Marcy's Route to Donna Anna through Plantation Hill Ft. Ft. Worth & Dallas both shown. A fine example of this marvelous map. Upper margin is narrow, but the map is an extraordinary example, with gorgeous full color.
